

Rocks & Minerals in Modern Society

Workshop for Teachers (K-12)

Conner Prairie Museum
Fishers, Indiana

June 23-25, 2009

Conference Description

- ◆ The workshop will focus on the identification, economic value, and the uses of a variety of earth materials in modern society.
- ◆ Materials specially created for K-12 science education programs.
- ◆ Participants may earn one graduate credit hour from Indiana University School of Education and/or nine CRUs.
- ◆ Registration will be limited to 60 participants.
- ◆ Hands on sessions that use the analogs of mining bird seed and chocolate chip cookies will offer a novel approach to mining procedures and economics.
- ◆ Tour an active aggregate mining operation. On-site instruction will be provided concerning extraction technology, quality control, and how industry addresses the environmental implication of aggregate mining.
